Guiding Thoughts

Congratulations on your most important relationship with your child(ren). As their parent/guardian, you are their first teacher in the home. You continue to both “show” and “tell” them important things they should learn and know. Thank you for seeking ways to increase and expand your capacity to do your job well in the home, through participation in HomeWork, an organized training opportunity for parents and those in parenting roles.

Reflect on the thoughts below. Your responses to them will be useful to the instructors as they prepare to offer HomeWork with you in mind.
